Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole system to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills give prompt relief: cases Ayer's Fills give prompt relief:

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, Lidave finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Fills. I always find then prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition.—Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from a torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Fills. Since that time L have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other midicine.—Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Fills for Stomachi and Liver disorders. Isunffered from a Torpid Liver, and Dys-pepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow; and my tongue conted! I had no appender, suffered from Headtad no happener, same and rue che, was pale and one action of the coxes of Ayer's Figs, taken in moders loses, restored me to perfect health. Waldo Miles, Oberlin, Ohio. Ayer's Fills are a superior family redicine. They strengthen and invignedicine. They strengthen and myg-rate the digestive organs, create an ap-petite; and remove the horrible depres-sion and despondency resulting from Ever Complaint. I have used these Pills in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction.— Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh, Wis. Ayer's Pills,

"The queerest sight I ever saw in the early morning was one that I chanced to see one day this week," said a Lewiston man, Friday, to a Journal reporter. "I was going to work at twenty mi nates past five and was walking down Lisbon street. Across the street I heard a great chatter among the Englist. sparrows, and there, near Paul's Block; was a red squirrel string on his haunches, fairly surrounded by English sparrows hovering over his head. The squirrel seemed frightened. He would run a rod and stop. Every time he stepped the sparrows surrounded him again. I watched them from there to the corner of Ash street. The sparrows seemed to pick at him. When they reached the orner of Ash, street, the bark of a dog broke in and the squirrel scooted. He disappeared downlithe alley way back of Bicknell & Neals." A remarkable freak of nature can be seen in the garden of Rev. Mr. White, on Sewall street, says the Augusta Journal. A squash vinc crayled up a tree as it grew and upon one of the limbs bore a squash. Strange to relate, a miniature vinc issued from the stem of the squash, passed completely around it closely encucling it, and to the limb again, furnishing a substantial support for the fruit.

At any rate they will get an excellent opportunity to study the sentiments of the people of this country on the subject of reciprocity as given expression in the press. With the exception of the few free trade organs every leading paper that has discussed the matter repudiates any such one-sided arrangement.

The report once more comes from Washington that the President is going to enforce his reform regulations, and that he proposes to investigate the recent staring ns of his last proclamation to office holders. If the President really desired to make an example of some of his appointees for ignoring his orders, the case of Collector Redman affords him an excellent opportunity, but like the rest of the reform business of this Administration this last report will doubtless end in talk.

Greene learned the printing business early in life and in 1820 established in Boston the Statesman, a Demodratic weekly. In 1823 he became proprietor of the Weekly. Free Press at Fuunton. He returned to Boston in a year and published a literary journal, the Boston Spectator, and finally returned to the Statesman.

In 1827 he removed to Philadelphia and associated with James A. Jones in the publication of the National Palladium, the first paper in Pennsylvania to advocate the election of Andrew Jackson to the Presidency. In the spring of 1828 he was connected with Gens Duff Greene in the management of the United States Telegraph. Shortly after wards he returned to Boston and became sole agent of the Statesman. He soon issued the prospectus for la daily paper and on Mov. 9th. 1831, published the first number of the Boston Post. He remained in connection with that paper until 1875.

No! one and all reply, and some perhaps are ready to say, we knew all this before. Very likely, I supposed you knew it; but the question is, do you heed it? Reader, if you are a farmer, stop reading even for a few moments, and look mentally around your premises, and see . It all is in order and in serson; and if anything is dragging, ask yourself if you had not better put on more help and push ahead, even if it costs a little extra effort and money. If you are a mechanic, it is all the same; look over your work and your jobs, and see it, you have more on your hands than you can do; and if so, don't make new promises only to be broken (an altogether too common thing,) out drive ahead while the season is favor able, work early and late, rather than be caught unprepared by winter.

And, gentle reader, if you are a house keeper, improve the earliest opportunity to examine your home establishment, to If all the requisite provisions are being made for a winter siege and blockade. Remember you have got a little army on your hands to clothe and feed, until they ean again be turned out to grass, in the spring. See if your lord (if you have one) is thoughtfully and seasonably stowing away in the cellar all the requisite vegetables for a winter supply, while they are in the market and can be obtained. Direct him to provide potatoes of some known ; variety and good quality, at whatever price, instead of dealing in mongrel mixed varieties, often so poor as not to be worth

A good potato is a good thing, but a poor one is poor indeed, that's certain. Then the purpose, the beets, the carrots, the squashes, the pumpkins, the onions, the cabbages, and many other things too numerous to mention; see that each and all of these are in their-proper places and duly secured for keeping and use. When the cellar is duly stored with all the requisites, then see that it is carefully banked and secured against that burglarions old ruscal who has so long and so often entered people's cellars, merely to do mischief; shut him out effectually and in season. Next, look around the house, and see if the chinks and air holes are all stopped, if the windows and doors are tight and secure from rattling when the wind blows. If all these things are not right arge the matter until they are fixed; a strip of list that costs nothing, and a cent's worth of tacks, will often stop an open grack in a door or window, and keep out cold and damp enough in a single winter to save $10 worth of wood, and perhaps a lit of siekness, and a doctor's, if not a sexion's, bill into the bargain. A house is peculiarly a woman's kingdom, whether rade of logs or cut stone, and if he uncerstands how to reign in it properly, she vill insist on having all its minutice kept i order. That's so!

The next thing in order is the wardrobe, e norneing all that variety of little articles that fashion and humanity need, from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot. And the woman who has a number of .little soldiers to equip, with perhaps not very t uple appropriations for the purpose, has no easy or idle task upon her hands. Mak-ing up new for the big ones, and cutting down old for the little ones, is the order of the day (and often of the evening). Then the stockings and shoes; what a lot it takes for a lot of feet! In the days when our good, old-fashioned mother spun ard knit, it was not so much of a mystery where they came from; but, alas and aluck, for the little boys and girls, and for the men, too, of the present day: how seldem they see a good warm woo ing, such as graced the feet of our boyhood, when mothers and grandmothers. krit, when eleven brothers and sisters filed right and left of us in a good old-fashioned Vermont family circle, and all well shod by a mother's busy needles, after the household labors of the day were done; but that was before female health and vigor and industry became ungenteel, or pairiarchal families went so entirely out of fashion .- B. Perley Poore.
